ACCOUNTING FOR PENSION SCHEMES

"As the flood of pensions periodicals increases, there is an undoubted need for a definitive collection of authoritative articles on the increasingly complex day-to-day practice of pensions law and administration. This journal fulfils that need and in doing so, is indispensable."

Robin Ellison
Head of Strategic Development
Pensions Department
Pinsent Curtis Biddle, UK

"With its emphasis on quality articles, Pensions stretches its readers and authors on the real issues currently affecting those involved professionally with pensions."

John Quarrell
Partner, Pensions Department
Nabarro Nathanson, UK

"Pensions addresses the real issues concerning pensions practitioners while meeting the intellectual standards expected by academics. For this reason, it is unique – and invaluable."

Professor Marshall Blume
Director
Pension Research Council, USA

Pensions is different. And here's why:

New title, new brief, new scope: Journal of Pensions Management becomes Pensions - developed to reflect the most up-to-date needs of the international industry. Practical "how-to" papers go beyond the theoretical to provide the multi-disciplinary support you and your team need to keep abreast of the latest developments. Concise, focused articles provide applicable solutions to questions that arise in day-to-day practice. Pensions has been developed specifically as an industry tool, written by practitioners for practitioners and designed to enable you to conduct business correctly and successfully.

- ✓ Authoritative Articles by leading international practitioners, expert consultants and respected academics, rather than journalists
- ✓ Case Studies from blue-chip practitioners worldwide, detailing their practical experiences, the problems encountered and the lessons learned
- ✓ Headlines – A regular industry update compiled and written by Towers Perrin, examining the latest developments in pay and benefits, internationally
- ✓ Resource Reviews summarising websites, books, conferences and more, and assessing their relevance to you
- ✓ Untainted by advertorials, each article is subjected to peer review to ensure that the journal is authoritative, accessible and relevant

Some of the articles scheduled for publication in Pensions include:

- The Pensions Ombudsman: Recent Developments
- The Beckmann Case: Redundancy Schemes and TUPE
- Pensions and Employment Issues in Mergers and Acquisitions
- Social Security and Pension Arrangements for Workers Posted Abroad and their Employers
- The Evolving Role of the Pension Fund Trustee
- Using Trusts as an Effective Employee Benefit Structure
- The Pension Scheme Office's SSAS Compliance Activity
- Current and Emerging Issues for Online Pension Distribution
- Integrating IT Solutions for Pensions Practitioners
- Selecting Funds of Hedge Funds for Pension Funds: A Survey of the Twenty Largest Funds
- Reviewing and Restructuring Your Pension Scheme: Getting the Legalities Right
- Integral Risk Management by Pension Funds in a Fair Value Framework: The Dutch Experience
